SCHREECHED FOR WAR.

Peace Demonstration in London Was a Frost.

Speakers Were all Drowned Out—The Police Charge the Crowd.

London, Sept. 25.—Failure marks the attempt to hold an anti-war demonstration in Trafalgar square, the British sympathizers being rather roughed by troops.

Thousands assembled, but not to support the speakers. On the contrary, the crowd waved union flags and sang the national anthem. The Duke, British ambassador, was present.

The speakers, who were quite laudable, were received with groans, derided, applied eggs and other missiles. Their voices were lost in the roar of the crowd, and the police, who had been given orders of fire for the colonials, and bared for President Kruger. Some soldiers who were present were carried shoulder high by the crowd.

There were several ugly outrages for the speakers, but they were stopped by opponents of the demonstration, who yelled furiously. Finally, the mounted police were telephoned for to clear the square. They were first sent to serve as a屏风, but were soon driven off by the horses, and 30 arrests were made.

The Transvaal situation presents no new features. Dispatches from Johannesburg report a complete dislocation of the coal mining industry. The exodus continues and all the names are closing.

The Bloomsbury correspondent of the Manchester Guardian, a pro-Boer organ, says: "Both French and German and Mr. Fisher (of the Orange Free State executive) inform us that the volksraad is absolutely unanimous that the two republics should stand or fall together. The Boers are still in a position to remain neutral and the Transvaal were conquered. It is not likely that we would long be permitted to stand outside British control. Let a rich gold field be discovered and what will it not do?"

The special correspondent of the Daily Telegraph at Pietermaritzburg, Natal, says: "It is believed that the pro-Boer element in the Transvaal will be ready to use the elaboration of decisive measures. No rain has fallen in their republic, and it is doubtful whether the Boers can commence hostilities before the end of October."

Anti-expansion Conference.

Boston, Sept. 22.—The Anti-imperialist League issued the following unauthorized statements having been made to the objects of the anti-imperialist conference in Chicago, Oct. 17, 18, 19, and 20. It is believed that no attempt at an organization will be any political party. It is hoped that this conference may plan for a systematic effort to establish anti-imperialist legislation throughout the country, and to incite the opposition to the present policy.

Hobart May Retires.

New York, Sept. 25.—It is possible that Vice President Hobart may be unable to attend the meeting of the Senate of the United States senate. More than that, it is now recognized as a serious probability that he will not be in physical condition to accept a recommendation to the Senate to adjourn the session of the Senate in the next campaign. The disease from which Mr. Hobart suffers is a kidney trouble, not acute, but it is believed that two other men are dead under a long time.

Milled His Home's Despoiler.

Chattanooga, Ga., Sept. 26.—In the northern part of the country a man named Dudley killed Jim Smith and Harry Okeyley, whom he found with his wife as she returns from a business trip. The self-same day he was killed, and was buried in Elizabethtown, Ky., where his wife had left the community. Okeyley was found dead on the floor, his head split open with an ax. Mr. Smith was found on the bed with his throat cut.

Tia Pista Plant Burned.

Nashville, Ind., Sept. 25.—The plant of the Tia Pista Company at Atlanta, Ind., was almost totally destroyed by fire. The shipping and trimming departments were entirely destroyed, and also stock worth $100,000. The total loss will reach $150,000.

Hamfield Sentenced.

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 21.—Eliza Headford, who killed her 13 year old son, was sentenced by Judge Doolittle. Headford was found guilty last Saturday. His attorney has asked a stay of execution pending an appeal.

Death of a Train.

Plymouth, Ind., Sept. 25.—Walter Updike and a small child were approaching the railroad crossing in a buggy, one mile west of Inwood, the horse became frightened and ran into a moving train. The lady was fatally injured.

Working Night and Day.

The boldest and brightest of all things in the world is Mr. King's New York. King paid a sumptuous dinner to his mother, Mrs. William Owen, last Saturday. Mr. King is a young man, and every present a spread of 1000 dollars.

SHOT FROM AMBUSH.

Sowder-Turner Fired Breaks Out afresh in Kentucky.

Meeting Held at Burton's Schoolhouse Last Saturday.

John P. Haswell Delivers an Interesting Talk.

The District School Associations are now being held in the various districts in the country. Sept. Driskell held his first one last Saturday in the Sixth Magisterial District at Burton's schoolhouse.

This is one of the oldest schoolhouses in the country, having been built on a hill two miles south of Rock Valley. More than eighty years ago Mr. Edward Burton, a prominent and well-to-do farmer of that neighborhood, save the Sowder-Turner fire. Turner is a son of Jack Turner, leader of the opposing faction. He is 20 years old, but is probably the most popular boy in this country. After the shooting, friends of Turner's shot and killed Sowder's horse and placed it in the road, and the train ran over it.

An "Empty" on the Track.

Indianapolis, Sept. 21.—In a collision at Converse, Daniel Campbell, Big Four, and his wife, Mrs. Dan, a daughter on the same train, of this city, were killed outright. They were on the fast freight No. 69, northbound.

The collision met at 10 o'clock and was caused by error of the engineer. He was an empty car, and the train was moving at a high rate of speed.

The regular program was taken up and was discussed by Professors Clemmons and Pila and Miss Vanah Overton.

THE UNSEEN CORD.

There is an un-seen cord which binds,
The whole wide world together;
Through every human life it winds;
This one mysterious tether.
It links all races, and all lands,
Throughout their span allotted;
And death alone unites the strands;
Which God Himself has knotted.

However humble be your lot,
How'er your hands are fettered,
You cannot think a noble thought
But all the world is bettered.
With every impulse, deed or duty,
Wherein love blends with duty,
A message spreads along the cord
That gives the earth more beauty.

Your unkind thought, your selfish deed,
Is felt in farthest places;
There are no solitudes where greed
And wrong can hide their faces,
There are no separate lives; the chain,
Too subtle for our seeing,
Unites us all upon the plane
Of universal being.

THE SHERIFF SPEAKS.

Eastern Adventures Told in a Graphic and Interesting Manner.

HARDINSBURG, KY., Sept. 14th, 1869.
Having told you of some of my nights I think it best to continue, as you BRECKENRIDGE News readers would think I have eight I did not write more, as I have known, except such as you find in my part of the Judge Ail to go home by himself and that I continued my trip. But the Judge did not leave me at the close of my last letter.

We took a view of the suburbs of Philadelphia to the south and saw the grandest homes that fancy can picture. Who would not love a home of broad acres, the yards filled with flowers, birds artistically arranged. No bouquet could excel it. Covered in deep shade of the wildwood so dense and so cool that the inviting hammock really needs the warmth of a 17-year-old maiden to drive off the chilly sensations of the air of August. We were more than half the time in those fortunes, and only let us with ambition to attain as nearly as possible the great state of perfection. And should we fail in the suburban residence, the grand flowers, and the trees, drive for the winter 17-year-old, and if failure should overtake us, try another street, 20 or 44 years. Some warmed over with shade, is better than all the barren heat or bleak cold.

Away we went, 22 miles to the west, were river for 5 cents, flushed us by the floated monopolists of the street car trust. It took about 30 minutes of our time to have been wafted in 10 hours to the river, and 10 galleons either. We might have swatted down on our collars and shirt fronts, but 12 cents would have repelled them, and a $4 pair of shoes would not have been over half worn out on this trip. It's true we would have been there too late to see the second's feet, or get on dimly the second's feet, but still had our kickback. Now I guess we can see what a great curse blighted monopolists and friends of road we have been to Philadelphia. But I am not sorry for the Judge for now he nickel is gone to enrich their pockets.

With the court-house we have until we get in the Arms road orders, after which we will take up the matter of a new court house like this one. This home county is more than twice as large as the land, houses, barns, horses, hounds, animals, crops, and other property, women and children included, are valued at Breckinridge county. And you see if the Judges and I have the house built will increase the value of the county's property 8 fold. I wish it would increase 10 fold, but I am sure it will not. The value of everything in our county including the women, and will say as far as I am concerned, there are eight women in Hardinsburg I would not trade even for this house, if they be longed to me.

We got our tickets and went to Atlantic City, the home of the oyster and the fish, like my home country along the road. We went 12 miles and ferried the Delaware in one hour exactly. Atlantic City is a famous watering place of red sand and substantial growth. It has about 100,000 houses and about 25,000 permanent inhabitants. There are often 150,000, 200,000, 250,000, 300,000, 350,000, 400,000, 450,000, 500,000, 550,000, 600,000, 650,000, 700,000, 750,000, 800,000, 850,000, 900,000, 950,000, 1,000,000, 1,050,000, THE FIGHTING FARMER.
EIGHT PAGES.
TUESDAY, NOV. 1, 1860.

By G. A. FOOTE, Irvington, Ky.

The great army of farmers like soldiers and sailors have their periods when defeat stares them in the face. Washington when he went into winter quarters within a stone's cast of the enemy without food or clothing could hardly believe that the Stars and Stripes would eventually float over the home of the free and the land of the brave, and that we would no longer wear the enemy's yoke and be ground down under the iron clad heel of British tyranny.

And when Jackson rode through New Orleans in citizen's clothing with his pantaloons in his boots and took charge of the American Army, he did so with the determination to teach the conqueror of Napoleon a trick about fighting. Sheridan at Winchester fired the hearts of his disengaged troops with the words, "Turn, boys, turn, and see what we have done." Dewey thousands of miles from home created his cannon balls, it gave men time to draw a long breath and renew their courage and look danger squarely in the face and fight like demons and crown the American Navy with the greatest victory ever known in the history of the world. It is the fighting men that have and always will win.

It takes this same indomitable spirit to succeed in a less noble field of endeavor. It is the fighting farmer that gets there and stays there. The fly gets in his wheat and the cold winter kills a part of what is left, his clever wife, his tobacco gives indifferent promise, a drought starves him in the face, he has his family to support, his taxes to pay and other obligations to meet. On thousands and thousands of farms these conditions exist today.

Brother farmers, shall we become dispirited or faint hearted, and fail by the wayside? Let right and wrong stand up to men, face to face with these pessimistic conditions, count our cannon balls, look up our shoulders, raise our courage and see where we stand?

The farmer has many things to contend with now's days. It takes a hero, a courageous man, to combat successfully with trusts, combines, and all rings and cliques that are striving to put down the price of farm products and at the same time increase the price on articles and implements that the farmer has to buy. What shall we do? We must go forward. Did ever a man in the history of the world go forward in the face of such opposition? Everything that stands out boldly in opposition to our best interests, fight to put down that which is wrong and uphold that which is good. You never hear the fighting farmer complaining and croaking of hard times. The white winged angel of peace hovers near him. The home of plenty pours out its blessings in every nook and corner. Microbes, bed bugs, insects, and all kinds of destructive parasitical forms of life find no congenial dwelling place on the fighting man's farm. This man's kind and generous treatment of his farm and stock make his stock fat, his fields rich and fruitful, and his living.

The fighting farmer has neither time nor inclination to write on goads boxes and discuss local politics with the ward heelers of his market town. His heart is where his treasures are and his family and farm and stock being his treasures, there his interest center and thither his tracks tend.

Success is only found at the end of effort. It takes enthusiasm to bring success in any branch of life. The man who does not love his profession carries his heart in his hand. So we must go forward. We must continue to fight and while you are engaged in this terrible struggle, don't forget the fact that we are in the fight too; with as good a herd of hogs as can be found in Kentucky. We want to see our hogs but if you cannot come, write and describe what you want and we will make you price reasonable for quality of stock. We have the blood and the feed as well as the facilities for producing fine hogs, and we believe it is possible for Breckinridge County to produce as fine hogs as can be found in any State in the Union.

We are in the fight to stay and propose to fight to the finish.

The Newville Plaindealer suggests that the Commercial of Louisville that it would be well to have the cost to be found in less than one hundred miles instead of going to Pittsburgh for it. A hint to the wife ought to be sufficient, but no attention will be paid to Jeff Slocum's suggestion, notwithstanding the fact that the very best coal in the State is to be had in the Pittsburgh country. But we will deal with the coal problem as they did with the Breckinridge asphalt. They will not use it if it can be had elsewhere.

Not long since a very estimable and lovable young lady said to us "No, I don't read the News, because you are against Mr. Goebel." We only bowed our heads and smiled. What more could we do? We did not care to get into a controversy with a lady about that or that candidate, but when it comes to Jeff Slocum's suggestion, we do not care to be beaten.

DRY CLEANING.

"Dry cleaning" as it is termed, may be as well done at home as at the cleaner's, and many a dollar saved, especially now that light colors are so fashionable. The process is very simple. Immerse the garment in gasoline and leave it for 24 hours entirely covered by the liquid. A thin wash bottle will do. If you have one over 1000, it is the most convenient vessel to use, as it will be almost airtight. Gasoline is so harmless to fabrics that an entire velvet hat with feathers may be bathed in it and come out as good as new without spot or streak. The soaker, however, should be kept outside the kitchen or any place where the gas may escape. The use of gasoline is the best method of removing the odors of the exterior and of gasoline. If anything but gasoline is used it may need to be repeated, but this is not necessary. The official seal of the State legislature, of which Senator John Haines is chairman, has been carefully cleaned by the Dewey reception.

OFFICIAL PROGRAM.

Dewey Reception will be a Handsome Souvenir Well Worth Preserving.

The preparation of the New York State official program of the Dewey reception is now in progress, and orders are received from all over the country and abroad for this great souvenir of this national event, which indicates the interest manifested by the general public in the great reception, as well as the desire to have it carried to the New York September 26. The State legislature, committee, of which Senator John Haines is chairman, has received all arrangements for the Dewey reception.

Mr. George T. Parker has returned from Washington, where he had been in consultation with the navy and other officials.

The indications now from the naval authorities are that the reception will be equal. If not, superior, to any souvenir program of like nature ever published.

The official design adopted by the committee is an elaborate cover illustrating the life of Admiral Dewey from his entrance to the naval academy to the battle of Manila Bay, which is life-like and full of interest.

The "Gibbons" Commodore in his uniform is a perfect copy of the "Mighty Behind the Gun" that has given the title to the gallant men who fought with Dewey on that memorable May morning.

The portrait of Dewey in the center, under the eagle and flag, represents the "fighting Commodore" in his uniform as Admiral of the United States.

Scenes from the battle of Manila Bay, the "Mighty Behind the Gun," and other features on engraved reproduction of the sword to be presented to Admiral Dewey, as well as a fac-simile of his commission as Admiral, signed by the President of the United States, and sent to the Admiral on behalf of the people and Congress of the United States.

Portraits of national, State and city senators, and members of the House of Representatives, and members of the Senate will be well represented by engraved portraits of the Senators and members. Many other features, together with the full official program of the naval and land parades will make this general well worthy of preservation as a memento of an extra-dramatic event in the history of the Empire.

Orders, enclosing the price, 25 cents each, should be sent to George T. Parker, treasurer, 223 Broadway, New York, and they will receive prompt attention.

A FEMININE FAILING.

Fretting Wears Out More Women's Lives Than Work or Care.

"Worry wears out more people than work and does not cause more unhappiness in families than either sickness or poverty," writes Mrs. Moses J. Handy in the October Woman's Companion. "Indeed, the secret of happiness is to be said to be in the control of the best of everything and good health, and it ought to take some care and bringing some of these into use. Think what the location of a manufacturing establishment would be like. It would bring a place, and it takes to make a place, have to live and then all trade are besieged. The world be the poorer the manufacturer's houses would improve, and such houses would be less expensive and in interest.

The wife is sufficient, and this as merely a suggestion, at no very distant date, when we are able to meet in Cloversport, instead of prosperity such as is known here.

There has nearly two thousand farms, it is passing, and with 200,000 people here, the woman folk have made a special place which we are able to Journal for the balance of 1900, 1901, 1902 and 1903 to all subscribers who are now.

A TREASURE BOX OPENED.

Is no day and night was there ever so great a demand for boxes as at the present time. It has been said that the holding up and robbing of safe and safes are constantly being done, and redressed to suit the popular palate and ancient and disrupt hobby horse are brought out and are made to please and cater to suit the modern taste.

Just now high premiums are being offered for boxes and cases of all kinds and of all descriptions. Work done by the grandmother's fingers and clothes worn by them in their youthful days are kept in our treasure boxes and brought to light on rare occasions for airing, or exhibited to the worshipful eyes of some ancient relic lover.

Readers of our good fortune to view some of the many souvenirs belonging to Miss Eliza Newton, of this city. Miss Eliza is more than eighty years old, and while her faculties are all perfectly clear, her mind dwells upon the past, and it was with great interest and pleasure that she showed some of the old letters of her.

She has two patch work quilts that are of special interest. They were made and designed many years ago by her sisters and exhibited at several fairs where they won premium. The design of one is called the California Rose and the other is the Compote. The back ground of the quilt is a large rose with the pattern applied in colored wool. The designs are perfectly carried out, making the wool quilt resemble a brightly colored picture. The work is exquisitely done and is a fine example of neatness and patience. She has other quilts of the same style that have never been completed. There is another style of quilt, which is called the "Mosaic," which is so rare as to make it a matter of curiosity. It is jewel jewelry. This was all made by Miss Eliza's sister, who was taught by her mother, an accomplished English woman. The most elaborate of the set is the hexagon for the hair. It was made of very light hair but is turned to a chestnut brown. It is quite elaborate and is a fine example of needle work in the center. To this set belong several bracelets and a watch fob which was worn by her father.

The most beautiful relics owned at this house are the French embroideries. There are yokes, long and short, collars and cuffs of all styles that are again in vogue. The bands are different lengths. There is a set of handkerchiefs given by her sister which make our modern handkerchief in this line seem pitiful indeed. Besides these specimens of woman's beauty and patience, she has some treasures that are valuable on account of their antiquity. One is a piece of hair embroidery, which was given by her mother, when a resident of Virginia. It was purchased in London, England, in 1870. It is a gauze piece of tan and pink ribbon about two inches wide and was in torn worn by each of Mrs. Newton's daughters.

The other antiques are a small hand ornament containing a lock of hair of her father. This pin is more than a hundred years old.

One pin completes this interesting collection. It is a small colored watch and was given one of the sisters by a friend from New Orleans. It is supposed to be an antique stone and will bring disaster to the wearer. This is the legend connected with it but Miss Eliza gives no credence to it.

Wooling a Schoolteacher.

"I am a young man, as he threw himself at the feet of the pretty schoolmistress. 'I love you, and would go to the world's end for you.'"

"You could not go to the end of the world for me, James. The world, or the earth, as it is called, is round like a ball, slightly flattened at the poles. One of the first lessons in elementary geography should be to teach the shape of the globe. You must have studied it when you were a boy."

"Of course I did, but—"

"It is not a longer a theory. Investigators have established the fact."

"I know, but what I meant was that I would do anything to please you. Ah, Minnie, if you knew the aching void!"

"There is no such think as a void, James. Nature abhors a vacuum. But, admitting that there could be such a thing, how could the void you speak of be a void if there were an aching in it?"

"I know, but what I meant was that I would do anything to please you. Ah, Minnie, if you knew the aching void!"
